12. [] Talked to Jay Sourwine, Chief Counsel, Senate Special Subcommittee on Internal Security, concerning the Eastland bill, S. 2998, and among other things asked what relationship, if any, there is between Title VI of this bill and the Dirksen bill, S. 2778. Sourwine said that Title VI is a gutted version of the Dirksen bill and was intentionally stripped of the more important sections as S. 2778 is very controversial and hearings probably could not be completed before the end of this Congress. It is Sourwine's opinion that S. 2778 is dead.
